

F.LLI GIACOMELLO BECOMES SRL

Change, evolution, ever bigger goals, with a firm anchorage to one's roots are what most characterizes the F.lli Giacomello at this time.

The company focus remained unchanged from the day the first product was produced: high quality and direct relationship with customers.

For general manager Daniele Giacomello it is important to keep the nature of the company intact, a heritage that is not only material, but also moral, that has been left by his family and that has always given solidity to F.lli Giacomello.

The ways in which all this has been maintained have changed over the years.

The company has grown, the number of collaborators has increased, it has obtained important certifications for different product ranges and considerable investments have been made in technology and communication.

The last major change occurred this year with the transition from "s.n.c." to "S.r.l."

A further step forward for a company with an eye to innovation, with a good customer base not only in Italy but also and above all abroad.