F.LLI GIACOMELLO s.n.c.

THE RAPID LEVEL TURNS 25 YEARS!

F.lli Giacomello snc was founded in 1985 as a family business, with the idea of being able to offer quality and originality to the market of the level indicators.

Its production begins with the observation of what there is on the market, with the objective to customize what already existed, and create innovative products that stand out from the competition. With these assumptions, in 1990, was born the RL series, strong suit of the Company. The immersion level indicators on the market, until that moment, had characteristics that limited the potential:

- Points of intervention fixed and not modifiable after production.
- Problems with ferrous particles or dirt in the liquid to be controlled.

The Giacomello brothers studying how to overcome these problems e creano un livello and create a level completely insensitive to impurities, of whatever nature they may be and with an adjustment which can take place before and after installation both. Is the birth of Rapid Level.

Over the years, the range is enriched with new elements, such as MG which make use of the same principle of operation but proposing a totally nylon-glass level indicator which also lowers the price limits that some applications require. Born in the year 2014 the RL/AT series, levels can withstand temperatures up to 200°C with a totally structure in s/steel AISI 316 material.

The RL have made recognizable F.lli Giacomello environment hydraulic, allowing the company to bring its product range in all European countries and beyond, especially thanks to their flexibility. The RL can be kept in stock and installed at the appropriate time without waste of time and unnecessary costs of transportation.

Today the RL are the unmistakable mark of the F.lli Giacomello company. Many have tried to create copies of this PATENT level indicator, but the quality, the passion and the exclusive relationship that the company has with its customers, are values that can not be emulated.

To all this is added the ability to produce internally all levels and to control them and test them 100%, because the brothers Giacomello believes that treating every product and every customer with the utmost attention is the secret to a quality that can last.
